Brochure

BACKGROUND & COURSE OVERVIEW

As part of its continuous commitment to enhance management efficiency in changing economic and business dynamics, the Institute of Business Administration (IBA), University of Dhaka is offering a certificate course on “Finance For Non-Finance Managers (FNM)”. No-one in business will succeed if s/he not financially literate – and no business will succeed without financially-literate people. This course is designed to give the participants an introduction to business finance so they can contribute to the success of their business. In general, the course seeks to enable participants to explain and apply the basic principles, tools, and techniques of the financial management. Specifically, the course will explain the fundamentals of finance, goals of finance managers, analysis of financial statements, valuation of securities, forecasting of cash, managing working capital, investment decision, financing decision etc.

WHO IS IT FOR

Every manager needs to understand finance if s/he is to play an active role in organization achieving the organization’s objectives. However, not every manager needs the same level of skill and understanding as specialist financial managers. This is the ideal course for managers and others who don’t have any finance/accounting qualification or background but who nonetheless need to understand finance practices, to interpret financial information and to take decision using financial information. Specifically, this course is a perfect one for the following two groups: i) non-finance professionals at all levels who need to develop an understanding of business finance; and, ii) all staff within a business, company, partnership or charitable organization should have an understanding of finance in order to contribute to their organization’s success.

BENEFITS FROM THE COURSE
